Thought for April Lent to Easter

As I write this we are right in the middle of Lent. So, what does Lent really mean? What Lent seems to mean to most people is – 'you give up something'. The question is why? Christians, during these forty days of Lent, seek to depict, or mirror, the time that Jesus spent in the desert separated from the world. In this time of Lent we recall the events leading up to, and including, Jesus' crucifixion. It is a time of reflection and preparation through prayer and Bible reading, leading us to the wonderful celebration of Easter.

At this particular time of giving up things, paradoxically it is a time for giving to others. At Church, we collect for Wateraid and many of us will have seen the heart-breaking scenes on television asking for money for this great charity. Also, this year Red Nose Day raised over £63 million all for good causes.

While we can do much for those in need, Jesus gave the most, he gave his life for each one of us when he was crucified, but he rose on the third day, and we celebrate this with our Easter Day services.

As one of our modern hymns says, "Come and join the celebration, it's a very special day." Come and share the joy of Easter and the message of hope that it brings.

ON THE BEACH

Early in the morning, Jesus stood on the shore, but the disciples did not realize that it was Jesus. John 21: 4

When I was a young boy, a friend of mine took two large boards and carved big, ugly footprints on one side of each board. He tied these on his shoes and walked on a sandy beach near here. He hoped that people would see the big, ugly footprints and think that some strange animal had been there. Several of us saw the footprints in the sand, but we knew they were not made by an animal. We knew that our friend, who liked to play jokes, was the footprint maker. We recognized his work.

One night after Jesus rose from the dead, the disciples went fishing. Early in the morning, as they were coming into shore, they saw a man standing on the shore, but they could not tell who it was. Maybe they were too far out in the water, or maybe it was foggy that early in the morning. But whatever the reason, they did not recognise Jesus.

Jesus called out to the fishermen and asked if they had caught anything. They said they hadn’t, so Jesus told them to throw their nets on the other side of the boat. They still did not know who he was, but they did what he said, and immediately, they caught so many fish that the nets were too heavy to pull into the boat.

At that point, John recognizes Jesus. How do you think John knew it was Jesus? Well, I doubt if John knew it was Jesus because he could see his face. I think it was because he knew the kind of things Jesus did. John knew that only Jesus, who had fed five thousand people with five loaves and two fish, could fill a net so full of fish.

I’ll bet that you would know Jesus by the things he would do. Would Jesus heal blind people? Would Jesus cheat on a test? Would Jesus talk to children? See, you would know Jesus by the things he would do. If you say that you are a follower of Jesus, then people should be able to see that you are a Christian by the things you do. If we follow Jesus, we will do good things, like he did, and people will know that we are Christians.
