Thought for September 2017

God blessed the seventh day!

I have been reading a book 'Food and Faith' by Norman Wirzba, which looks at the spiritual significance of food production and eating. He talks about gardens and remarks that perhaps October should be the first month of Spring. What a strange idea! However, he goes on to explain that while vegetation takes a rest from growing upwards, October is when the roots of healthy life are embedded in the ground. He says, "We say that Nature rests, yet she is working like mad. She has only shut up shop and pulled the shutters down; but behind them she is unpacking new goods, and the shelves are becoming full that they bend under the load."

He goes on, "That, so much of the real work happens underground and is the effect of processes that we can aid but not control." An early first lesson a gardener must learn is to tend the soil. He makes an analogy with our own lives, which are lived at frenetic pace. Like gardeners, we need to slow down and observe the things, which help our lives to grow in a healthy and wholesome way. We need to pay attention to the 'soil' of our lives - the communities and families in which we find ourselves, and spend more time tending them.

As we find ourselves looking towards our annual harvest festival, let's join together in thankfulness for the bounty which we have in food and relationships, and take time to nurture them.

"God saw that everything he had made, and behold it was very good." Gen 1v31

With blessings, Rev'd Chris Woadden.

The Ballad of the Oyster

There once was an oyster whose story I tell,
Who found that some sand had got into its shell.

It was only a grain, but it gave him great pain;
For oysters have feelings although they're so plain.

Now did he berate the harsh workings of fate
That had brought him to such a deplorable state?

Did he curse at the government, cry for election,
And claim that the sea should have given him protection?

No! He said to himself as he lay on a shell,
"Since I cannot remove it, I'll try to improve it"

Now the years have rolled by, as the years always do,
And he came to his ultimate destiny ---- STEW.

And the small grain of sand that had bothered him so
Was a beautiful pearl all richly aglow.

Now the tale has a moral; For isn't it grand
What an oyster can do with a small grain of sand?

What couldn't we do If we'd only begin
With some of the things that get under our skin.

*Remember that every pearl got its start irritating an oyster.
In all things God works for the good of those who love him, who have been called according to his purpose. (Romans 8:28).*

Whenever I see a little church
I always pay a visit
So when at last I'm carried in
The Lord won't say : "Who is it?"
