AUGUST NEWS

SUMMER FAYRE

This year the Summer Fayre was held in the new Village Hall for the first time, as an experiment to see how the usual range of stalls, games and refreshments would work in the different space available. Luckily the weather cleared up and the afternoon was bright and warm, and lots of people came. A meeting has been held to discuss any hiccups with this new setting and to see how we can improve on this for next year. Grateful thanks are due to all who worked very hard to provide an afternoon of fun. Also, thank you from Kathleen Dennis to all who provided cakes for the cake stall, this is much appreciated.

A STRANGER IS A FRIEND YOU HAVEN'T MET
YET

This is part of a poem by Walter Alexander Raleigh (1861 – 1922) entitled 'Wishes of an elderly man wished at a garden party, June 1914:

I wish I loved the human race;
I wish I loved its silly face;
I wish I liked the way it walks;
I wish I loved the way it talks;
And when I'm introduced to one,
I wish I thought 'What jolly fun!'

Have you ever felt like the author, whether at a family party, travelling on a crowded bus or train in the rush hour, or in the waiting room of the doctor's surgery, surrounded by miserable patients sharing their germs. We rarely admit, even to ourselves, that our attitude towards our fellow human beings is anything other than positive. If we're honest, however, the truth is that though we like some people enormously, and dislike a few with equal force, our attitude towards most people wavers between indifference and mistrust. How can we know for certain that the person we can hear coming up behind us in the street isn't planning to steal our mobile phone? And when the phone rings everyone knows that the unknown person on the other end of the line, from the moment she opens her mouth is going to try to sell us something, probably double - glazing or insurance. In the New Testament St.Luke tells the story of Jesus healing a man possessed by demons. At the time of Jesus, people generally believed that most forms of illness were caused by wicked demons as a punishment for some kind of sin. This particular man sounds as if he was a pretty terrifying example of humanity. He was often seen running around stark naked and was constantly making strange noises day and night. Now one might expect that the locals would be only too glad to see him cured, and grateful to Jesus for making this possible. But they weren't – far from it! They were afraid, and the whole crowd begged Jesus to leave them. But what were they scared of? Well, Judging from Luke's account, the miracle had been unusually dramatic and spectacular, which might partly account for the people's fear. The real reason behind their panic might have been fear of having to form a new relationship with the former demoniac. Before Jesus turned up, they had ignored, disliked or perhaps made fun of him as a subhuman creature. Now he was standing in the midst of them clothed and in his right mind – every bit as human as they were! How often do we reject people who are new to our school!? How often have we been guilty of ignoring or making fun of people we don't really know? When we leave school or go on work experience we have to get on with unknown people whether we like it or not. Perhaps we should start to develop a more mature attitude today by taking notice of all those around us and remembering the saying, 'A stranger is friend you haven't met yet.' Perhaps then our immediate reaction on being introduced to someone new would genuinely be, 'What jolly fun!.'
