Thought for August, 2014

1066 and all that!

This month sees the centennial anniversary of the start of the 1st World War. I think it is important to mark these sorts of events and as important to discover the causes and examine the effects that they had on the nations as well as the ordinary people involved. It is also important not to glorify war no matter how much we admire the bravery of the combatants because the sheer suffering and folly of it all, far outweighs any other consideration. Of course we need to remember, so that at all costs, we can avoid making the same mistakes yet again.

As someone else said, 'In 1914 an act of terrorism in a corner of south eastern Europe led to a crisis spiraling out of control.' So an act of stupidity in a civil war zone in bringing down the Malaysian airline could well, if we are not careful lead to a similar crisis. Tensions are already high but one false move could well be disastrous when two or more empires face up to one another with neither being able or willing to 'lose face'. Sabre rattling is all very well for home consumption but it needs great diplomatic efforts to stop the situation getting any worse and to bring about a peaceful resolution to this dangerous local conflict.

As we know the conflicts in Syria and Palestine are just as dangerous and difficult to resolve but they can only be resolved ultimately by dialogue, understanding and compromise on all sides and the long process of justice being re established for all embarked upon. Jesus said "Treat others as you would like them to treat you." I pray for all a good and peaceful holiday.

With blessings, Rev'd Chris Woadden.

1st HOLTON-LE-CLAY GIRLS' BRIGADE

Our Girls' Brigade closed last year, having been superseded by Messy Church, but to mark its association with our Church and the many years of fun, fellowship and camaraderie enjoyed by the members and leaders, a sum of money has been set aside to make a collage of photographs to be framed and hung in the Church Extension. This cannot happen without photographs to cover all of those years, so we need your help please. Were you, your daughter or granddaughter a member, and you proudly took some photographs? We would appreciate a copy of a few of your best so that we can start our project. (I Say "copy" as we will not be able to return them because they will have been cut to make a collage.) If you were a leader or helper it is important that we have a photograph of you! Thank you. Margaret, 10 Mount Pleasant. Tel 590896 information in next month's magazine, but please put this date in your diary, and if you are able to help in any way, please phone Margaret (590896), Eddie Coulbeck on 07711 511 559 or Maureen Surfleet on 07568 197 914.

PUTTING OTHERS FIRST

Many, many years ago a king ordered that a great race should be held in his kingdom, and all the greatest and best athletes should be invited to compete. The prize was to be a bag of pure gold, which would be presented to the winner.

The king personally started the race before returning in his coach to the winning line, which was at the gates of the palace. There he waited to greet the winner. Halfway through the race, however, the runners discovered a huge pile of stones and rocks blocking the road that led to the king's palace. The runners were able to clamber over the rocks or find a path around them, and despite this setback they eventually made it to the gates of the palace.

At last all the runners had crossed the finishing line – all except one, that is. Nevertheless, the king did not declare the race to be over. Eventually one lone runner came running through the gate. He raised a bleeding and bruised hand and said, 'Your Majesty, I am very sorry that I am so late, but you see, I found a pile of stones and rocks in the road, and it took me some time, and I injured myself in removing them' Then he lifted his other hand, in which was a bag. He said, 'But, Sire, underneath the pile of rocks I found this bag of gold.'

The king said, 'My son, you have won the race, for the one who runs best is he who makes the way safer for those who follow.'

The last runner was rewarded because he took responsibility for what was wrong.

If a chair falls over in class, do you pick it up, or walk round it? If an accident occurs or you do wrong, do you own up or say, 'It's not my fault'? Do you consider the needs of others before your own?

Perhaps helping others is its own reward.
