Thought for April, 2014

Am I My Brother's Keeper?

Margaret Thatcher famously once said, "There's no such thing as Society." Sometimes it seems as if successive governments have conspired to make this come true. We can get so consumed about our lives and what we want, it comes to a sorry state when we realise that we do not know who our neighbours are, or that if we were ill, that no one would actually call to see how we were.

The Grimsby Telegraph reported about the increase in neglect and abuse of children in North East Lincolnshire. We know that there are some shocking cases locally and that drug abuse and poverty are contributory factors as well. Sue Woolmore chair of NE Lincs Safeguarding Children Board said "Keeping children and young people safe is the responsibility of everyone." "In the community, you are the in the very best position to keep children and young people safe." Her remarks are about us noticing when something isn't right and about doing something.

These days we are acutely aware that it is a dangerous world and that we should take every precaution that children and vulnerable adults should be protected. DBS checks etc but we have come to such a mindset that we begin not to trust anyone. We are so risk averse that we cannot let our children walk anywhere or go out to play. This stops them learning to be streetwise in a good way to recognize and deal with life's dangers, and also that most people can be trusted. When the snows came some years ago, we began to remember how to be a better community and care for one another. Let's not forget that lesson and continue to work for a more selfless society. This is one of the reasons why Jesus went to the cross.

With Lenten blessings, Rev'd Chris Woadden.

St. Paul said, “ I preach Christ Crucified, a message that is offensive to some and nonsense to others, but to those who understand it, it is the very key to the meaning of life.”

I CRUCIFIED THE SON OF GOD

Perhaps you have heard about Rembrandt's famous painting of 'The Three Crosses'. In the centre is the cross on which Jesus died, with the crowd at the foot of the cross.

The different facial expressions and actions of the people involved in the awful crime of crucifying the Son of God are shown. At the edge of the painting is another figure, almost hidden in the shadows. Art critics say this is a representation of Rembrandt himself, for he recognised that by his sins he had helped to nail Jesus to the cross. We find it easy to blame the Roman soldiers or Pontius Pilate for Christ's death. It is quite a simple thing to say that Jesus died for the sins of the world, but it is quite another thing to say that Jesus died for my sins. It was I who nailed him to the cross. I crucified the Son of God. I joined the mockery. Like the one who was almost hidden in the crowd in the painting, we too are standing there with Rembrandt. But then recall what Jesus said as he hung on the cross, “Father, forgive them.” Thank God that includes you and me.

Malcolm Muggeridge (1903 – 1990) said (to put the life and importance of Christ in context:) - “All the armies that ever marched, and all the navies that ever were built, and all the parliaments that ever sat, and all the kings that ever reigned, put together, have not affected the life of man upon this earth as powerfully as has this one solitary life.
