Thought for July, 2014

Rome burned while Nero fiddled!

As I sat down to write this, England had just been knocked out of the world cup. It is sad for the team, who played with passion and commitment without reward but it also brings into sharp relief the folly of humanity. Football is no longer sport but a business and entertainment with vast amounts money lavished on it that only benefits the few. I am astonished and somewhat angered that the cup has displaced the media's attention away from more important events as with the crisis in Iraq, Syria or Ukraine. Matches have become more important than the whole world's security and safety.

The protesters in Brazil against the vast amounts on money lavished on the event have been sidelined. To think how that money could have helped the poor is inconvenient and not lucrative and they have been airbrushed out of the picture. Top level football is like many top bankers and other high finance, only interested in its own importance and increasing wealth and therefore wide open to corruption. As a youth I remember David Nish who played for Leicester City and would have made a modest income as a footballer. He was actually a milkman and also played cricket for the county during the Summer as well. He was passionate about sport, as many ordinary people are and I'm glad that they still are today but know what's truly important in life as well.

Jesus said "Do not store up treasures on earth where moth and rust destroy and thieves break in and steal but store up treasures in heaven". Matt 6v19ff

Then football might truly be the 'Beautiful Game'

With blessings, Rev'd Chris Woadden.

LOUTH PLAYGOERS NEEDS YOUR HELP

To commemorate the centenary of the beginning of World War 1 , Playgoers are performing C.F. Sherriff's classic play 'Journey's End' in March 2015. For this production they need a range of WW1 uniforms for private soldiers and officers including tin hats, caps, rifles, gas masks, boots etc. These items can be a variety of condition to portray life living in the trenches in France during the war.

If anyone has any items to help stage this play, please contact Riverhead Theatre 01507 600350 or email admin@louthplaygoers.co.uk

HOLTON LE CLAY TWINNING - VISIT TO HOLTON 2014

On Friday 2 May , at approx 4.00pm the French coach with around 36 folks of all ages arrived at Holton Le Clay.

This year's 3-day visit featured a day in Nottingham, to see Nottingham Castle , The Galleries of Justice and The City of Caves, and learn about the legend of Robin Hood. There was also a dinner dance at Laceby Manor Golf Club, and free time for French families, with their English hosts, to visit places such as Lincoln, Batemans Brewery or The Deep. We now look forward to visiting Sargé probably over the Easter weekend of the 3-6 April 2015 for our 20th twinning anniversary get together.

We appreciate people can be apprehensive about joining us , and what they are letting themselves in for, but we can say that most people who join our twinning group stay with us, and most have been in the group 15 - 19 years (formed 19 years ago) and have a great time and formed lasting friendships with their French counterparts .

We are always looking for new members to join us. If you would like further information visit www.holtontwinning.co.uk where there is also a link to send an e-mail or call Chairperson Bill Wright on 01472 590843. BW

SCHOOL REPORTS

This is the time of year when your teachers are busy writing your end of year report. This can be a difficult task for many teachers who may have to write hundreds of reports in a very short space of time. Trying to think of something original to say is quite hard, especially when they have to talk about students who may not have done very well.

For many school students this can be a very worrying time. How have I done this year? Have I improved on last year? What will my parents say when they read my report? Of course, these feelings are nothing new. For several hundred years children have dreaded the annual summary of their work, effort and behaviour.

In the opening chapter of Matilda by Roald Dahl, the author describes how parents sometimes think that their child's achievements are at the level of genius. Dahl, puzzled by such 'twaddle', counsels teachers to resort to foul play when writing reports. He suggests that they write that a child with limited ability is a 'total washout'. Dahl implies that if he were a teacher, he would enjoy writing the end-of-term reports for the bad children in his class. Here are some real reports written about famous people. See if you can guess to whom they belong:

Certainly on the road to failure...hopeless...rather a clown in class...wasting other pupils' time.

(Of one of the most successful musicians of all time: Beatle, John Lennon).

Is a constant trouble to everybody and is always in some scrape or other. He cannot be trusted to behave himself anywhere. He has no ambition...

(Of Sir Winston Churchill: voted by television viewers the greatest Briton of all time).

I have never met a boy who so persistently writes the exact opposite of what he means. He seems incapable of organising his thoughts on paper!

(Of Roald Dahl: some say the most popular children's author ever).

These comments are all pretty harsh, and we will never know if they were really deserved. We do know, however, that in later life these three men all achieved great things. Perhaps this means that there is hope for students who receive even the most awful school report. Maybe, through hard work and perseverance, by never giving up and by completing our daily tasks to the very best of our abilities, we will achieve our true potential.
